CERTIFICATION IN MANAGEMENT CONSULTING

HIRING PARTNER

Grant Thornton

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Consulting industry was initially founded in the late 19th century, focussing on Engineering and Finance industries until it increasingly gained momentum when American consultancies started getting traction even in Europe. Almost a century later, it is one of the most mature industries in the services sector with revenues from the top 10 Consulting firms roughly around $50 billion at the beginning of the 21st century.

Five and a half million people work in the Consulting sector across the whole world. Consulting is one of the most sought after desired career paths for MBA graduates. This was reflected even in InsideIIM Recruitment Survey with IIM-A, B, C and XLRI students opting for Consulting as their most preferred career! Not just in India but across the globe too with 37% of the batch at Columbia, 26% of the batch at Harvard, and a massive 44% of the batch at Yale opted for Consulting roles.

Ofcourse, most assume that an MBA degree is something of a prerequisite for the Consulting industry. Surprisingly, that is not true; MBA is neither necessary nor sufficient to transition to consulting. And there's a reason why. One of the most important aspects of management consulting is the huge variety of projects you'll work on which is why having a specialist track is often coveted in the industry.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

So, if you're a Chartered Accountant or a Graduate with extensive experience in the core industries or even a doctor or a law practitioner, worry not, the doors to Consulting are not closed for you. In fact, MBB and other big Consulting firms actively seek out specialists to aid their ever-increasing and varying portfolio of clients. And that is your opening!

On one hand, MBA students & graduates find themselves a natural fit in the Consulting role due to the analytical skills and business approach. On the other hand, non-MBA professionals like Engineers and CAs push their case even further by bringing their core experience & specialisations to the table. But we know what both, MBAs and non-MBAs, find the most difficult to answer is,
How Do We Make The Cut?

ALUMNI SPEAK

“I opted for the program as an MBA student with the aspiration of joining the world of consulting after graduating. The program was very enlightening, especially with interactions with people from top consulting firms. Another experience that was a highlight for me was the mock interview experience. From an MBA student perspective, it was worth the investment I did with great returns.”

Aiswarya Mishra

“The course was designed quite comprehensively, it gave a good overview of the consulting field in general. I learned a lot from expert speakers about the practical aspects of working in a consulting field. Got good learning exposure from my peers while working on the Projects/ Group tasks. Overall quite a decent experience. ”

ALUMNI SPEAK

“I wanted hands-on experience in the consulting world and enrolled myself in the program since we would have the opportunity to work on a live project as well, in conjunction with interaction with industry experts. There was a tremendous learning and the program gave me the confidence to ace some of the consulting interviews as well.”

Rachel Kujur

“The highlight was the insights from a recruiter's perspective, what they look for in a candidate and then a few very specific profile-based questions also answered which was really productive. Every profile has been viewed in a very holistic manner and people get to know what they have as an immediate priority on campus or in job switch situations.”
